

Lightstream Empowers the Future of Security

Lightstream, a MISA Member

In today's fast-paced digital world, security is not just a necessity; it's a foundation for innovation and trust. Lightstream understands that not every organization is fully equipped with the right people and processes to secure their organizations, and they must find trusted partners to augment their teams. That is why Lightstream has invested so heavily in building a world-class professional services and managed services organization to help fill that critical role.

Not only do our customers recognize our critical role as a trusted advisor, but Microsoft does as well. For the second year in a row, Lightstream has been invited to join the Microsoft Intelligent Security Association (MISA). Lightstream is a leading provider of cloud security, network transformation, and managed services. As a Microsoft Gold Partner, Lightstream has demonstrated its expertise and commitment to delivering high-quality solutions that leverage Microsoft's cloud and security technologies.

What is MISA?

The Microsoft Intelligent Security Association (MISA) is an elite community of cybersecurity experts, independent software vendors (ISVs), and managed security service providers (MSSPs) from around the globe who have integrated their solutions with Microsoft Security products. Less than 1% of Microsoft partners are invited into this exclusive group.

Microsoft selects members that have proven their ability to provide top-tier security solutions for customers, significantly enhancing their cybersecurity posture, which is MISA's primary goal.
